A LIST OF PUBLICATIONS ON THE HISTORY OF WARWICKSHIRE,
PUBLISHED 1980–2017

An amalgamation of annual bibliographies compiled by R.J. Chamberlaine-Brothers and published in Warwickshire History since 1980, with additions from readers. Please send details of any corrections or omissions to info@warwickshirehistory.org.uk

The earlier material in this list was compiled from the holdings of the Warwickshire County Record Office (WCRO). Warwickshire Library and Information Service (WLIS) have supplied us with information about additions to their Local Studies material from 2013. We are very grateful to WLIS for their help, especially Ms. L. Essex and her colleagues. Please visit the WLIS local studies web pages for more detailed information about the variety of sources held: www.warwickshire.gov.uk/localstudies A separate page at the end of this list gives the history of the Library collection, parts of which are over 100 years old.

Copies of most of these published works are available at WCRO or through the WLIS. The Shakespeare Birthplace Trust also holds a substantial local history library searchable at http://collections.shakespeare.org.uk/. The unpublished typescripts listed below are available at WCRO.

Warwickshire Library and Information Service

Local Studies material

We aim to collect and make available, information about Warwickshire and its people, buildings and countryside. Please visit the local studies web pages for more detailed information about the variety of sources held: www.warwickshire.gov.uk/localstudies

Unique collections relating to specific areas are located at larger libraries, including Atherstone, Bedworth, Coleshill, Kenilworth, Leamington, Nuneaton, Rugby and Stratford, with smaller collections at Alcester and Southam.

Accessing the collections

All book stock is arranged following the Dewey Decimal System, the standard way most public libraries organise their material, and the collections contain reference and lending material.

In addition to the library catalogue, https://library.warwickshire.gov.uk some collections have card indices or lists of subject headings recording details of photographs and information contained in books, leaflets and pamphlets. Lateral thinking is useful when using the indices, as historically the collections were owned by different local councils and were created by staff who indexed in different ways; this is especially useful to remember when using the larger collections at Nuneaton, Leamington and Rugby, all of which are over 100 years old.

The largest range of material relating to the county as a whole, the Warwickshire Collection is held at Nuneaton Library. Holding approximately 25,000 items in total, including books, photographs and illustrations, directories, journals and other material, the collection aims to gather all titles published on Warwickshire and its communities, places and people. Paper mapping for the county is also available from the 1950’s to approximately 2010.

We recommend that you consult the web pages before visiting any library, and if you are travelling a distance or to view something specific, you contact us using the link on the web page (or telephone us) beforehand so we can make sure it is available. Information about joining the library is also available on-line. http://www.warwickshire.gov.uk/libraries-and-leisure/libraries

Please e-mail us at librarylocalstudies@warwickshire.gov.uk for specific local studies or family history enquiries.
